

A large, circular inset image showing three business professionals in a modern office setting. A man in a grey blazer is leaning over a desk, shaking hands with a woman in a striped shirt who is also shaking hands with a man in a grey sweater. They are all smiling and appear to be in a collaborative meeting. A laptop and some papers are on the desk.

Outsourcing of IT resources by AXIANS

Possibility to use the services of our IT specialists who have various levels of seniority ranging from juniors to seasoned professionals with many years of experience as well as the required certifications in their respective fields.

OUTSOURCING IS A SOLUTION WHEN:

- ▶ You have projects in your company that need to be completed, but at the same time you have a limited employee headcount that you cannot exceed
- ▶ You plan to realize either one-off or time-limited projects and once they are finished you will have no further use for internal employees who are supposed to work on them
- ▶ You need to cope efficiently with short-term peaks and drops in the workload volume
- ▶ You are looking for experts to cover very specific positions that are not available in the labour market
- ▶ You cannot or do not want to invest in your own hiring process, employees training and you want to save your costs on severance pay in case of termination
- ▶ You want to integrate new systems; implement or optimize business processes; develop and test new applications; create training materials or other documentation, etc.

There are two alternatives to choose from how our services can be provided: either by external contractors under the service delivery contract or via temporary assignment of Axians internal employees.

To enable the latter option, Axians is the holder of an official license issued by the Czech Labour Office.

Did you know that we, at Axians, have more than 150 employees with more than 450 professional certifications?
